This book is dedicated to Mr. John E. (Dirty Jack) Sweitzer. He is a man, etched into the memory of Loyola's seniors, who represents for those whose knowledge of him is limited, the typification of what this Loyola year has been. For those who know him well, of his accomplishments for Loyola, of the type man he is, he represents that standard of being toward which Loyola should strive.

John Hennessey, in four years at Loyola, has felt and grown with the people he has influenced. Perhaps not too many people know him, but he has left his mark on Loyola. One of his achievements is that of creating spirited math majors. The Math Club, though the size of the budget doesn't show it, is one of the most active organizations on campus. The Evergreen Science Journal, in which he had a large part in formulating, is visual proof of his desire to put Loyola on the map. In recognition of this and of his active role on the Student Life Commission, the 1970 Evergreen presents John Hennessey.

EVERGREEN: Tell us something about yourself before you came to Loyola?

HENNESSEY: I graduated from Fordham Undergraduate School and attended Purdue University Graduate School. After two years and a summer, I received my Master's Degree. Then, I got tired of the Midwest and tired of being a teacher's assistant. You don't have complete control of your classes; it's pretty much like running problem sessions and that's about it. So, having been impressed with the caliber of the Math Dept., I came to Loyola.

EVERGREEN: What are the differences and/or similarities between Loyola of 1966 and Loyola of right now?

HENNESSEY: The most significant thing is that people today are being more open to problems of the college and people. They're examining everybody's point of view, where before the thinking was more along the lines which stereotyped a person's thinking according to his dress. I think the college is now much more capable of handling the more honest point of view; their channels are more open than before.

As far as the students are concerned, I think the Student Government has become a focal point of student power. Before, it was a matter of students in small groups dictating and making their requests known. Now there is a much more powerful structure set up for the students.

EVERGREEN: In the midst of a concerned generation, Loyola students appear tragically apathetic. What is your response to a statement like this?

HENNESSEY: I think the problem is really being pin-pointed by the fact that we now have dorm students who have to live here 24 hours a day. Before, it was basically a commuter college. People didn't expect much more from it than an academic atmosphere and a small amount of extracurricular activities. As soon as the residents appeared, you have the problem that it's a 24 hour deal. They now have to have a certain amount of social life and things other than academics pushed down their throats. The college has to provide these things and are realizing the enormity of it. The students realize that they can't get away with just going to class and going home. It's becoming more and more evident that this is a hard thing to swallow, but people are beginning to do something about it.

EVERGREEN: How significant is it now that we have laymen for Deans?

HENNESSEY: I think a lot of the benefit has been derived from the fact that you have people like Mr. Lavin who have experience and have been trained along these lines. Therefore, you basically have someone who knows what he is doing. This is why they're successful. I wouldn't rule out the possibility of replacing any of them with Jesuits. The only demand I would make is that they're experienced and have a certain amount of competence in this line.

EVERGREEN: What do you think of the student-teacher relationship?

HENNESSEY: There should be a definite relationship between the faculty and student, and it shouldn't be one of almost a peer attitude. The students should realize that this is a faculty member. Likewise, the faculty should respect the student. I certainly think that most faculty members appreciate students coming around to see them and talk about their courses or other things. I would go one step further and say that faculty members sometimes are hurt if certain students, having problems with a course, don't come around, but just fade out of the picture.

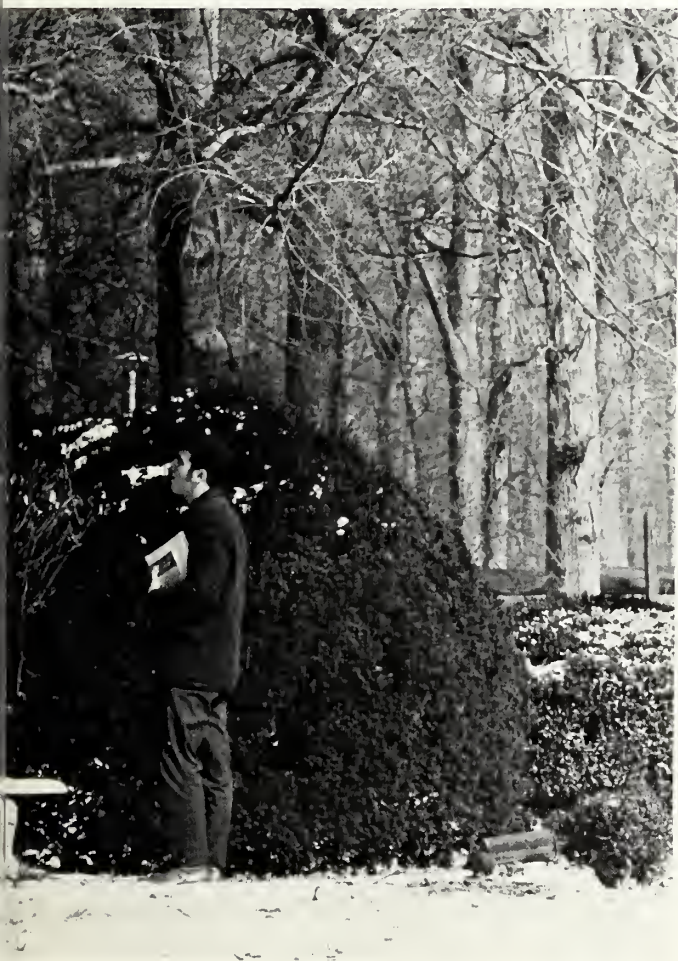

Stand on the edge, look inside,
It's not very big, not even full.
Things are moving though, or
At least they appear active.
Go in?
One step in and you'll never be the same.
Or don't.
Just stand there.
Stand on the edge and just watch.

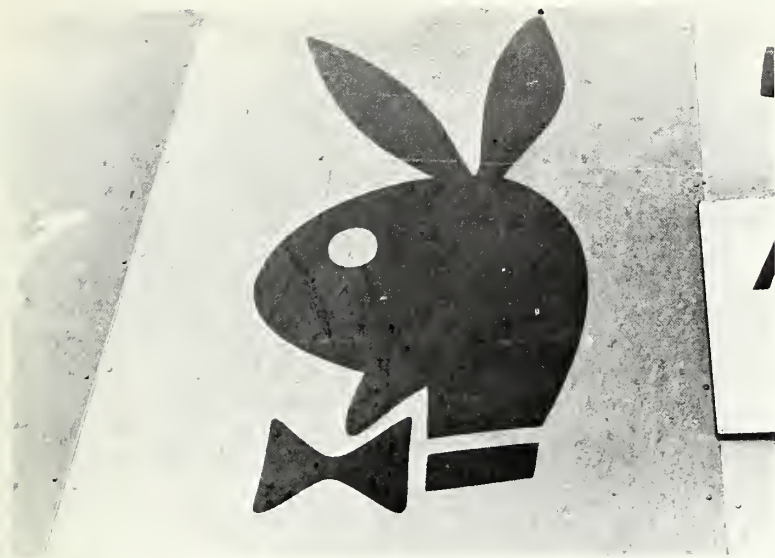

There were events at Loyola this year. These were noteworthy events of which, however, no notice was taken.

There was Homecoming, the moratorium, an exciting basketball season, Loyola sports events throughout the year, concerts, spring elections, 4-1-4, Sr. Evelyn, marathon, intramurals, and much more.

If you can remember half of these, we're proud of you. You have distinguished yourself. Though not alone, you are among the few — the few who care.

UNCLE TOM SAYS-
"ONLY YOU CAN PREVENT GHETTO FIRES"

Why? We're not sure. The events took place. They happened. Participation in them by the general student body did not.

Blame can be laid in a number of places: lack of strong leadership in the student government, especially by the SG president; lack of co-operation between the dorm and day students; poor selection of concert groups; etc., etc.

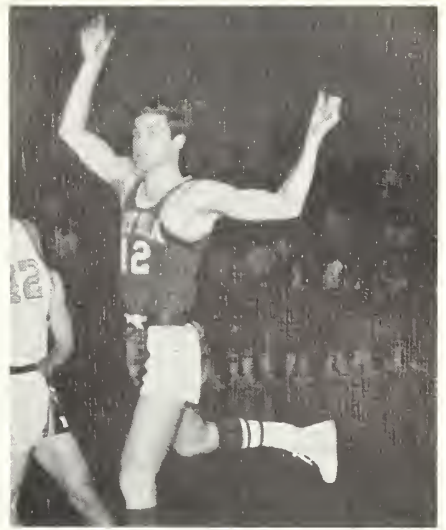

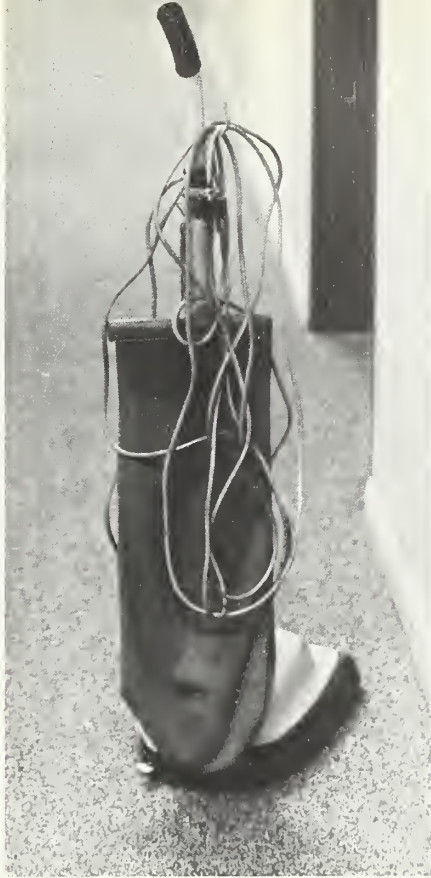

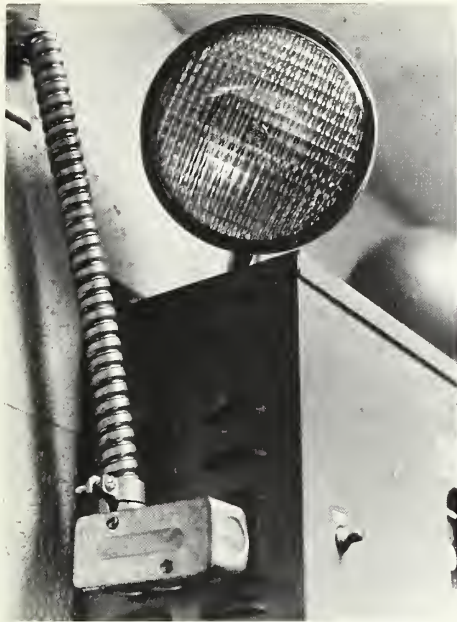

Generally, however, blame must be laid to a lack of concern on the part of the students. For where is the overall student concern for dorm troubles, concert flops, sports events without spectators, the war, the obvious structural decay which afflicts Loyola? Abest.

There are good things at Loyola. The faculty is of a high quality and some even care. There are many activities, the attainability of which is easy.

But where is there a genuine faculty-student relationship which concerns itself with the needs of Loyola? Where is the activity that is concerned with giving something to Loyola which everyone can take a look at and in which they can become involved? Again, abest.

Involvement in Loyola and the involvement of Loyola in life is not difficult. The requirements are desire and freedom from the fear of commitment.

The following pages (or lack of them) do not represent a lack of imagination. Rather, they emphasize too well a pathetic lack of participation. We urge those of you who feel slighted to use these pages as you see fit. Some of you will do nothing, as usual. Some of you will fill them with the likes of Oriole autographs, butterflies, Playboy center-folds, or perhaps bathroom graffiti. Perhaps a few of you will meditate on the possibilities of making next year worth the coverage for which these pages are intended.

Because no Seniors turned out for this year's team, the entire squad should return intact for next year's campaign. The harriers were led this year by Juniors Mike Hodges and Captain Jeff Hild. Mike has emerged as a top runner in the conference as was indicated by his medalist finish in the Mason Dixon finals last year. Loyola also showed class by capturing 2nd place in the Gallaudet Invitational and 3rd in the Mason Dixon finals.

1969 was a year of expectation for the Hounds. Past successes had lured the best area players to come to Loyola. Last year, many of the returning veterans had accrued game experience and Loyola sought revenge for being nosed out of the Championship by 6 percentage points. However, the average size of the squad was not apt to scare the ladies at a Washington's Birthday Sale. Helping out is the mark of any Jim Bullington squad and this year's team reaped the benefits of that axiom.

Although Loyola reached the Mason-Dixon Finals, the season had been earlier marred by the first conference loss in 32 games to Johns Hopkins. Hopkins double-teamed the ball and massed in the penalty zone to thwart the frustrated Hounds. Loyola relied on Denny Wit and Dave Wolf to carry upfield and feed Ty, Gil, John, Al, Butch and Jimmy. Loyola's attack executed one play, the give and go, which broke several games open. The defense's strength ran from the goal up the middle with the wings our most vulnerable areas. Tom Giodano, Paulie, both Mikes, Rudy and Richie plugged the middle.

Loyola sat in the driver's seat for the balance of the season. However, in the final analysis, the Green was # 2 and it was too late to try harder.

SOCCKER

On attack, the key to scoring lies in the number of shots put on goal. This year Loyola was on goal perfectly 35 times in 14 outings for an average of 2.5 per game. The Loyola defense allowed 1.5 goals per game including three 1 goal winning efforts. Loyola emoted a certain Celtic aura of inherent superiority to the faithful fans. In the Towson State game, our Homecoming, Loyola methodically came back to overcome an early score; in the 1st B.U. game Denny Wit pumped from 50 feet in the last 87 seconds to win; in the Randy Macon playoff game, Richie stole the ball at midfield and outran the defense before passing to Butch for the tying score with 22 heartbeats left. This was Soccer at Loyola. Superior play gained control, marred by momentary lapses, as Loyola played consistent ball until the stunner against B.U. 6-0 which lessened the accomplishment and left yet another garter in the suitor's hand.

The SEASON

The Greyhounds 1970 record belies the workmanlike atmosphere present throughout. Taller than recent Hound squads with a seventh man, Loyola figured to make an appearance in Roanoke in the tail of winter. Tri-captains Blaney, Fenzel, and Johnson insured experience on the court most of the season. If performance replicated game plans Loyola showed an incorrigible affinity for the Keystone Kops. Starting coldly, the team would freeze by half-time yet trail by a mere drop in the bucket. In the last half, perhaps kindled by some spry Irish advice, the team relied heavily on # 21, Bobby C to pull out a victory.

12-14

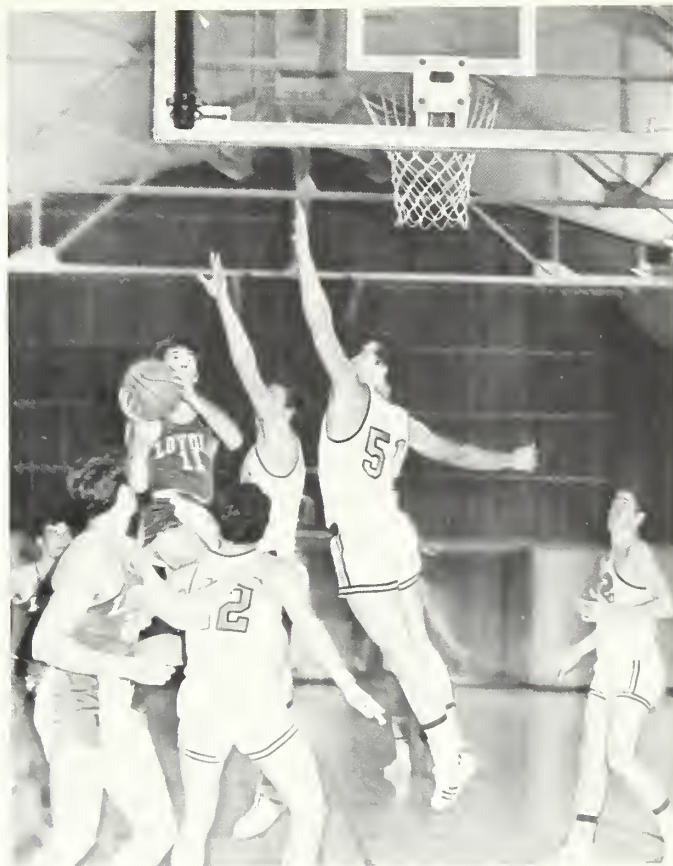

The Hounds capitalized on a mid-season spurt to stake out the Northern Division lead and cemented their claim with high percentage shooting and a sleek offense oriented toward the fast break. Creating a lead in a game from opponents' mistakes and forcing these mistakes to multiply with quick outlet passing principally aided the Green in their drive.

Loyola entered the Mason-Dixon Tournament as the 2nd Northern seed. On Saturday night the Hounds were nosed out by Roanoke in a colorful outing. Along the route Bobby C hit for 74 in three games while Rick Betz hit Roanoke's Stewart for 10 (seconds). Obviously heeding Barb Geiss' cry "Fight team, fight!," this score fit perfectly in with Roanoke's unbelievably good shooting to end the Tournament. Ed Butler assisted fluidly on many hoops and with Farrel and Michael gave a good account on the boards.

Loyola's 1970 swimming team resembled a surfer who never caught the big wave to victory because his board was broken. Injuries to key men on the slim squad dashed Coach Tom Murphy's delusions of a winning record.

Following a dismal dual meet season, the Greyhounds splashed to respectability in a reversal at the Mason Dixon Championships held at Gallaudet.

Rusty Kuehn and Blake Hampson in particular led Loyola to a 3rd place in the Championships. Each captured a 2nd, 3rd, and 4th in individual events toward the cumulative score. Senior Captain Pete Zerhusen added the second best diving performance — scoring enough points to qualify him for the NCAA Championships.

SWIMMING

A Freshman duo, Steve Ennis and Andy Finley, and Soph Gene Matysek gained 5th.

In the medleys, Loyola churned out two 2nd's and a 4th. It would appear that the lack of depth hurt the squad more than inadequate ability.

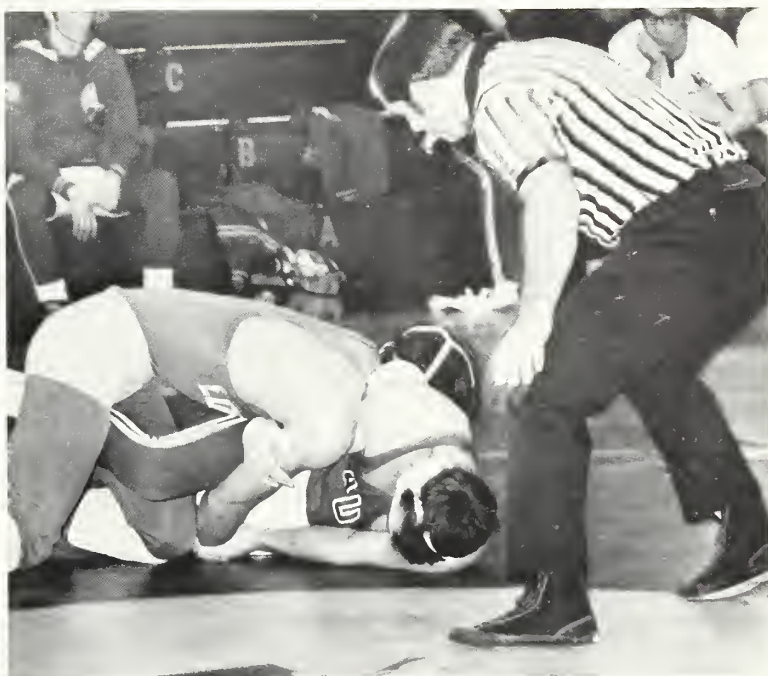

The Loyola wrestlers must have felt the strain of the contemporary pro, coming back injured physically and psychologically from defeat to face the next opponent. Senior Joel Sweren raised his arm in victory 11 times in 15 matches leading the younger matmen to a 1-10 team record — a rebuilding year. As if rebuilding were not sufficient handicap, the black light forces above decreed that key 'wrasslers' Rich Gaar, Dennis Cichelli and Grease be rendered disabled.

WRESTLING

The Winter Green hampered as a team by injuries produced fine individual efforts for Coach Tom Milligan in both the Maryland Invitational and Mason-Dixon Tournaments. As in last year's tournament, Loyola had one champion. This year Junior Chuck Shelsby swept the crown for 118 lb.'ers and posted a 15-1 overall tally. Junior Rich Gaar, fighting a shoulder injury and ear infection, placed 2nd in the Mason-Dixon while wrestling an abbreviated schedule to a 3-1 record. Joel Sweren placed 3rd and Freshman Andy Amasia 4th in both tournaments. Wrestling at 125 lbs., Andy recorded 8 victories in 10 outings.

In the Mason-Dixon Tournament the Greyhounds finished behind Western Maryland, Towson State, and Washington College.

Though many tout Lacrosse as the fastest sport on two feet, Loyola's games dragged interminably. The sole surviving Senior, Captain Terry Clayton culminated a 4-year bruising career with a sole victory over club vintage Georgetown. Despite his efforts, the team evolved as a group of happy losers who played in repeated comedic tragedies, scooping and shooting air while the ball rolled freely. The most acceptable rationale for the team's record is attributable to a lack of size, markedly significant in such an aggressive sport. The great extra-state demand for Maryland stickmen causes the fierce competition in recruiting — a present problem felt at Evergreen.

To stand the stoic in the aftermath of splintered ash bludgeon particles, to know intuitively the next pitch invites a further drive, to fear the next time at bat — these became companion emotions for Greyhound baseballers in '70.

The team failed to produce the talent to complement the abundant comradery in a rebuilding year rivaling the 2nd Bay Bridge in the Tardy Goal Accomplishment category.

TRACK

The track connotes hustlers, engineers, locomotives, and paths to nothingness. You will remember all on the 1970 Grey harriers — the same group that brought you Cross-Country last fall. They performed admirably — running, jumping, throwing, and hurdling while conjuring images of a cheering crowd so deserved.

The 1970 Evergreen were led by Mohler athlete Joel Sweren who reached the semifinals of the Evening Sun Tournament in open play this summer. This year brought another powerful team to defend Loyola's hegemony in the Northern Conference. The netters notched an especially succulent victory over Colgate 8-1 while Towson scared the 'dogs 4-5 in a Greyhound loss. Loyola's Green Machine fell to Hampden-Sydney in the M-D Finals.

INTRAMURALS: FOOTBALL

The scent of blood in the air is rarely illusion during the intramural season. The final game this year set Them against Pox without immunization as the Juniors stuck the Seniors 6-0 in sudden death. Though plagued by injuries, Them hung on to produce a defensive gem. Denny Price passed to Kevin Kavanaugh for the victory.

UNDERCLASS

Trying to pass judgement on a class makes one realize the complex nature of the college scene. To understand this, one needs only to talk to any incoming freshman. Just registering the first time seems insurmountable.

Why is this class so unique? The transition of establishing a resident college from a home-grown one hit unmercifully on the class of '73. The blame for their failures has been kicked around too long. Their failures are Loyola's failures. This is not to condone the actions or lack of them by the frosh, but an attempt to start everyone coming together.

FRESHMEN: IMPORTANT CLASS MEETING

WEDNESDAY.

MARCH 11, 1970

12:00 NOON

COHN HALL

SPEAKER: FR. SELLINGER

N.B. ALL FRESHMAN 12:00 CLASSES ^{ON} _{THE} 11th
WILL BE CANCELLED

What causes our President to leave his lovely office to scold? Certainly conditions which exist in more than one class are intensified in the youngest. The apathy, lack of religion, or whatever is attributed to our newcomers are not a new way of life for Loyola.

The absence of any campus social life or hangout is thought to be one solution. Another might be the vigorous support and guidance from organization leaders, faculty, and administration.

Because of their naivete and late coming, the freshmen found themselves in a trap. Too few upperclassmen and organizations provided any sort of welcome at all. What is said here will not correct the situation. So, leaving more unsaid than said may make Loyola do something.

THE RESTUVM

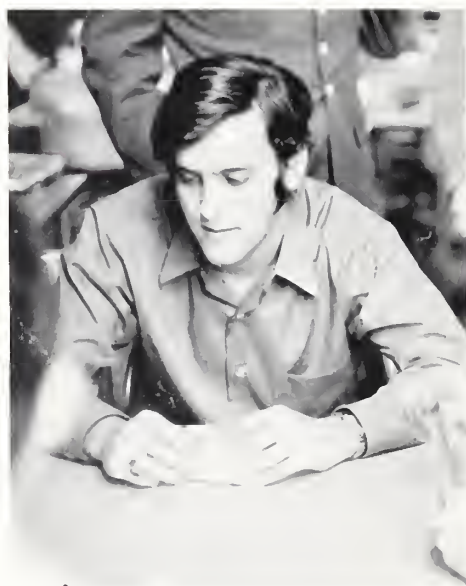

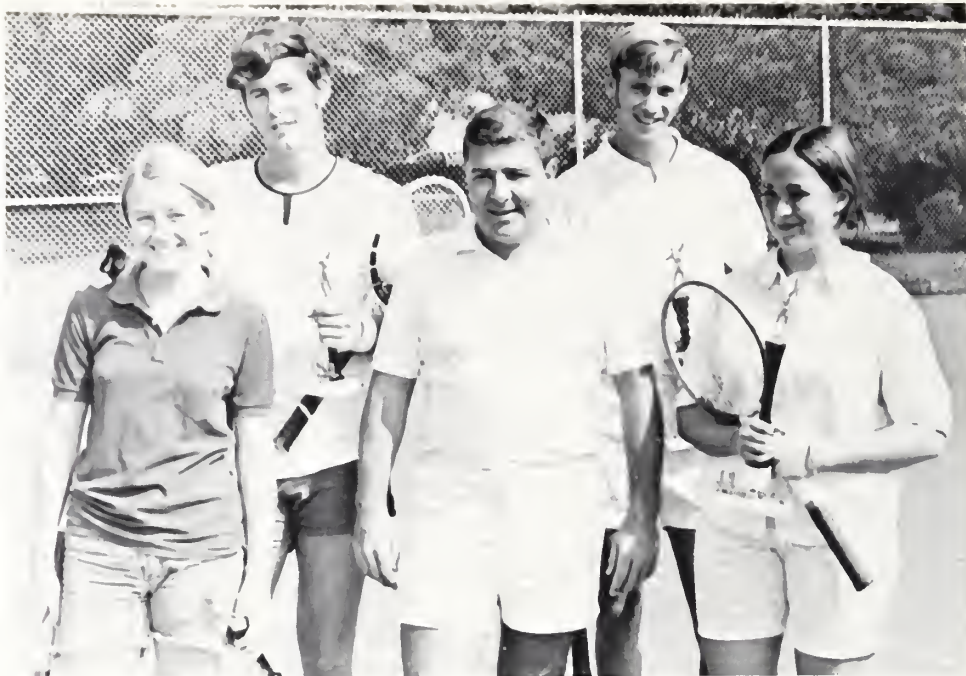

If anyone is still reading, this has not been very nice. Everything looks on the threshold of disaster. Before the walls crumble though, think. A lot has been said, implicated, and torn apart, but does it serve a purpose. It's easy to write nasty things.

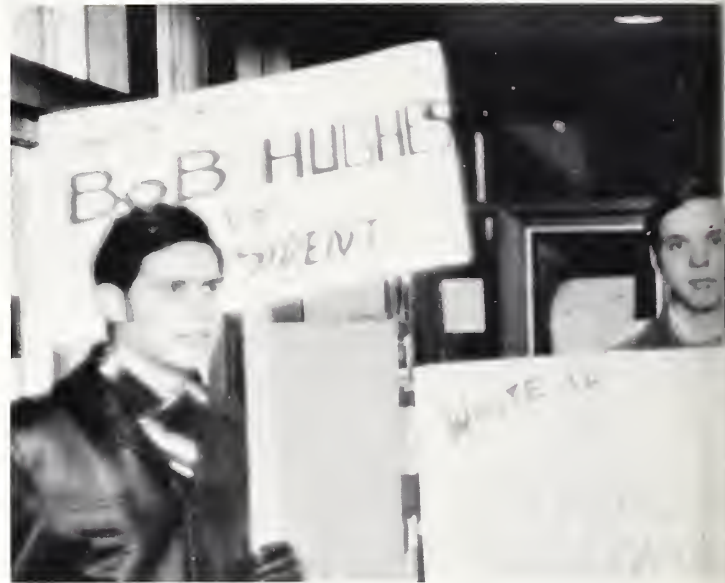

Excuses are empty. Besides, they don't correct the situation. Loyola is here for the betterment of the students. Without students, there would be no Loyola.

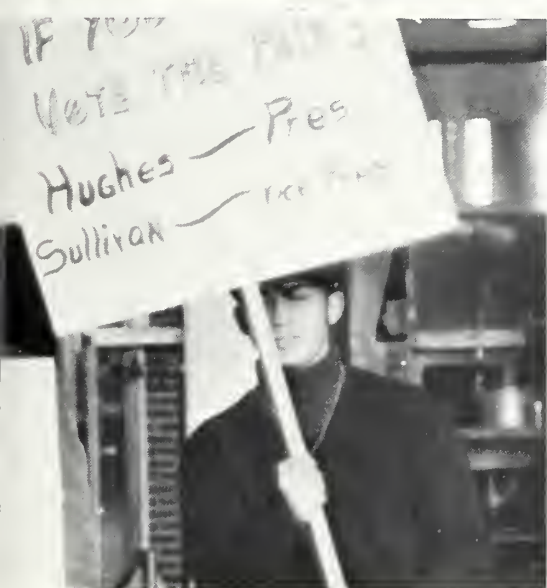

But what is a student? The word has many objective, non-personal meanings, but what does it feel like to be a student. What are the human ingredients? After all, you are human. You do have emotions, needs, desires. Use them. Take part. Become involved. CARE.

28th ANNIVERSARY

THE ENSIGN C. MARKLAND KELLY, JR. MEMORIAL POST #174 of the AMERICAN LEGION was formed in his honor, to perpetuate his name and keep alive the AMERICAN ideals for which he so willingly gave his life.

To this end the Ensign C. Markland Kelly, Jr. Memorial Post #174 has been active in many programs and activities, a few of which are listed below.

- American Flag—Educational programs for flag etiquette and American Flags presented to Boy and Girl Scout Troops.
- Athletics—Junior baseball, basketball and lacrosse teams sponsored. Lacrosse trophies for High Schools and Colleges. A baseball field is maintained in the Northwood area. Annual Sports Award presented to an outstanding coach in the State of Maryland.
- Baltimore City Zoo—Gifts of (11) Polar bears, Jenny the elephant and most recently the Sardinian donkeys, Ginger Bread and Cupcake.
- Boys and Girls State—(8) High School Juniors each year sponsored.
- Boy Scouts—Over 18,000 Boy Scout calendars presented annually to schools, troops and Cub Packs.
- Essay and Oratorical Contests—Sponsoring contests in all schools interested.

ACTIVE SUPPORTER OF ANNUAL AWARDS PRESENTATION TO BALTIMORE AREA RECIPIENTS.

- Open Shutter—Maintain film library for "shut-in" institutions as well as providing live entertainment and refreshments as occasion arises.
- Scholarships—McDonogh School and Baltimore College of Commerce.
- Memorial Services—Open to the public, each year a Memorial Day Service is held at Loudon Park Cemetery on May 30th for all who have made the supreme sacrifice for their country. Watch for announcement in the papers.

Since its inception, the Post has been interested in the community; and many things have been done to promote its welfare. Special credit should be given to the ENSIGN C. MARKLAND KELLY, JR. MEMORIAL FOUNDATION, INC. for their financial assistance. The result—many of the programs are a reality rather than a dream.

Best Wishes to the

Instead of trying to recap all we are supposed to have done, let a note of thanks ring out. The first is because the book is done. It will be late coming out, but we doubt if anyone will soon forget it. To our yearbook rep., Pat Mahoney, we offer our thanks for his patience in handling us the last two years. The formal photography credit goes to our Philadelphia Kid, Marv Merin; and avid appreciation for his willing signature goes to our moderator, Dr. Zaczek.

As for our staph, Paul should be congratulated for his interest in photography. Mike Tanczyn should go down in the annals of time as the only one who made the deadlines. The EVERGREEN Shylock, Tom Tanneyhill, found more than enough money by robbing rich old ladies in the neighborhood. To those who were never utilized, don't lose faith, it will be better. To our secretaries, Kathy Sears and Kate Leonard, your typing is somewhere in the office. As for Tom's slaves, how did he ever con you into addressing all those envelopes?

Speaking for General Lombardo and myself, thanks to Pat and Betsy for their nonexistent complaints. Finally, Jeff Coleman should be noted for always responding to our photographic needs in times of turmoil.

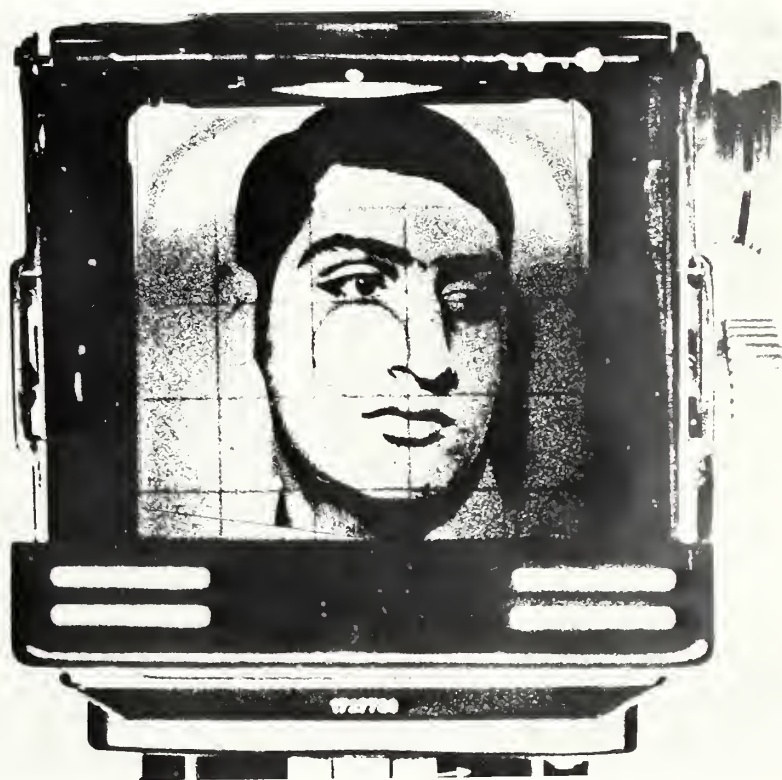

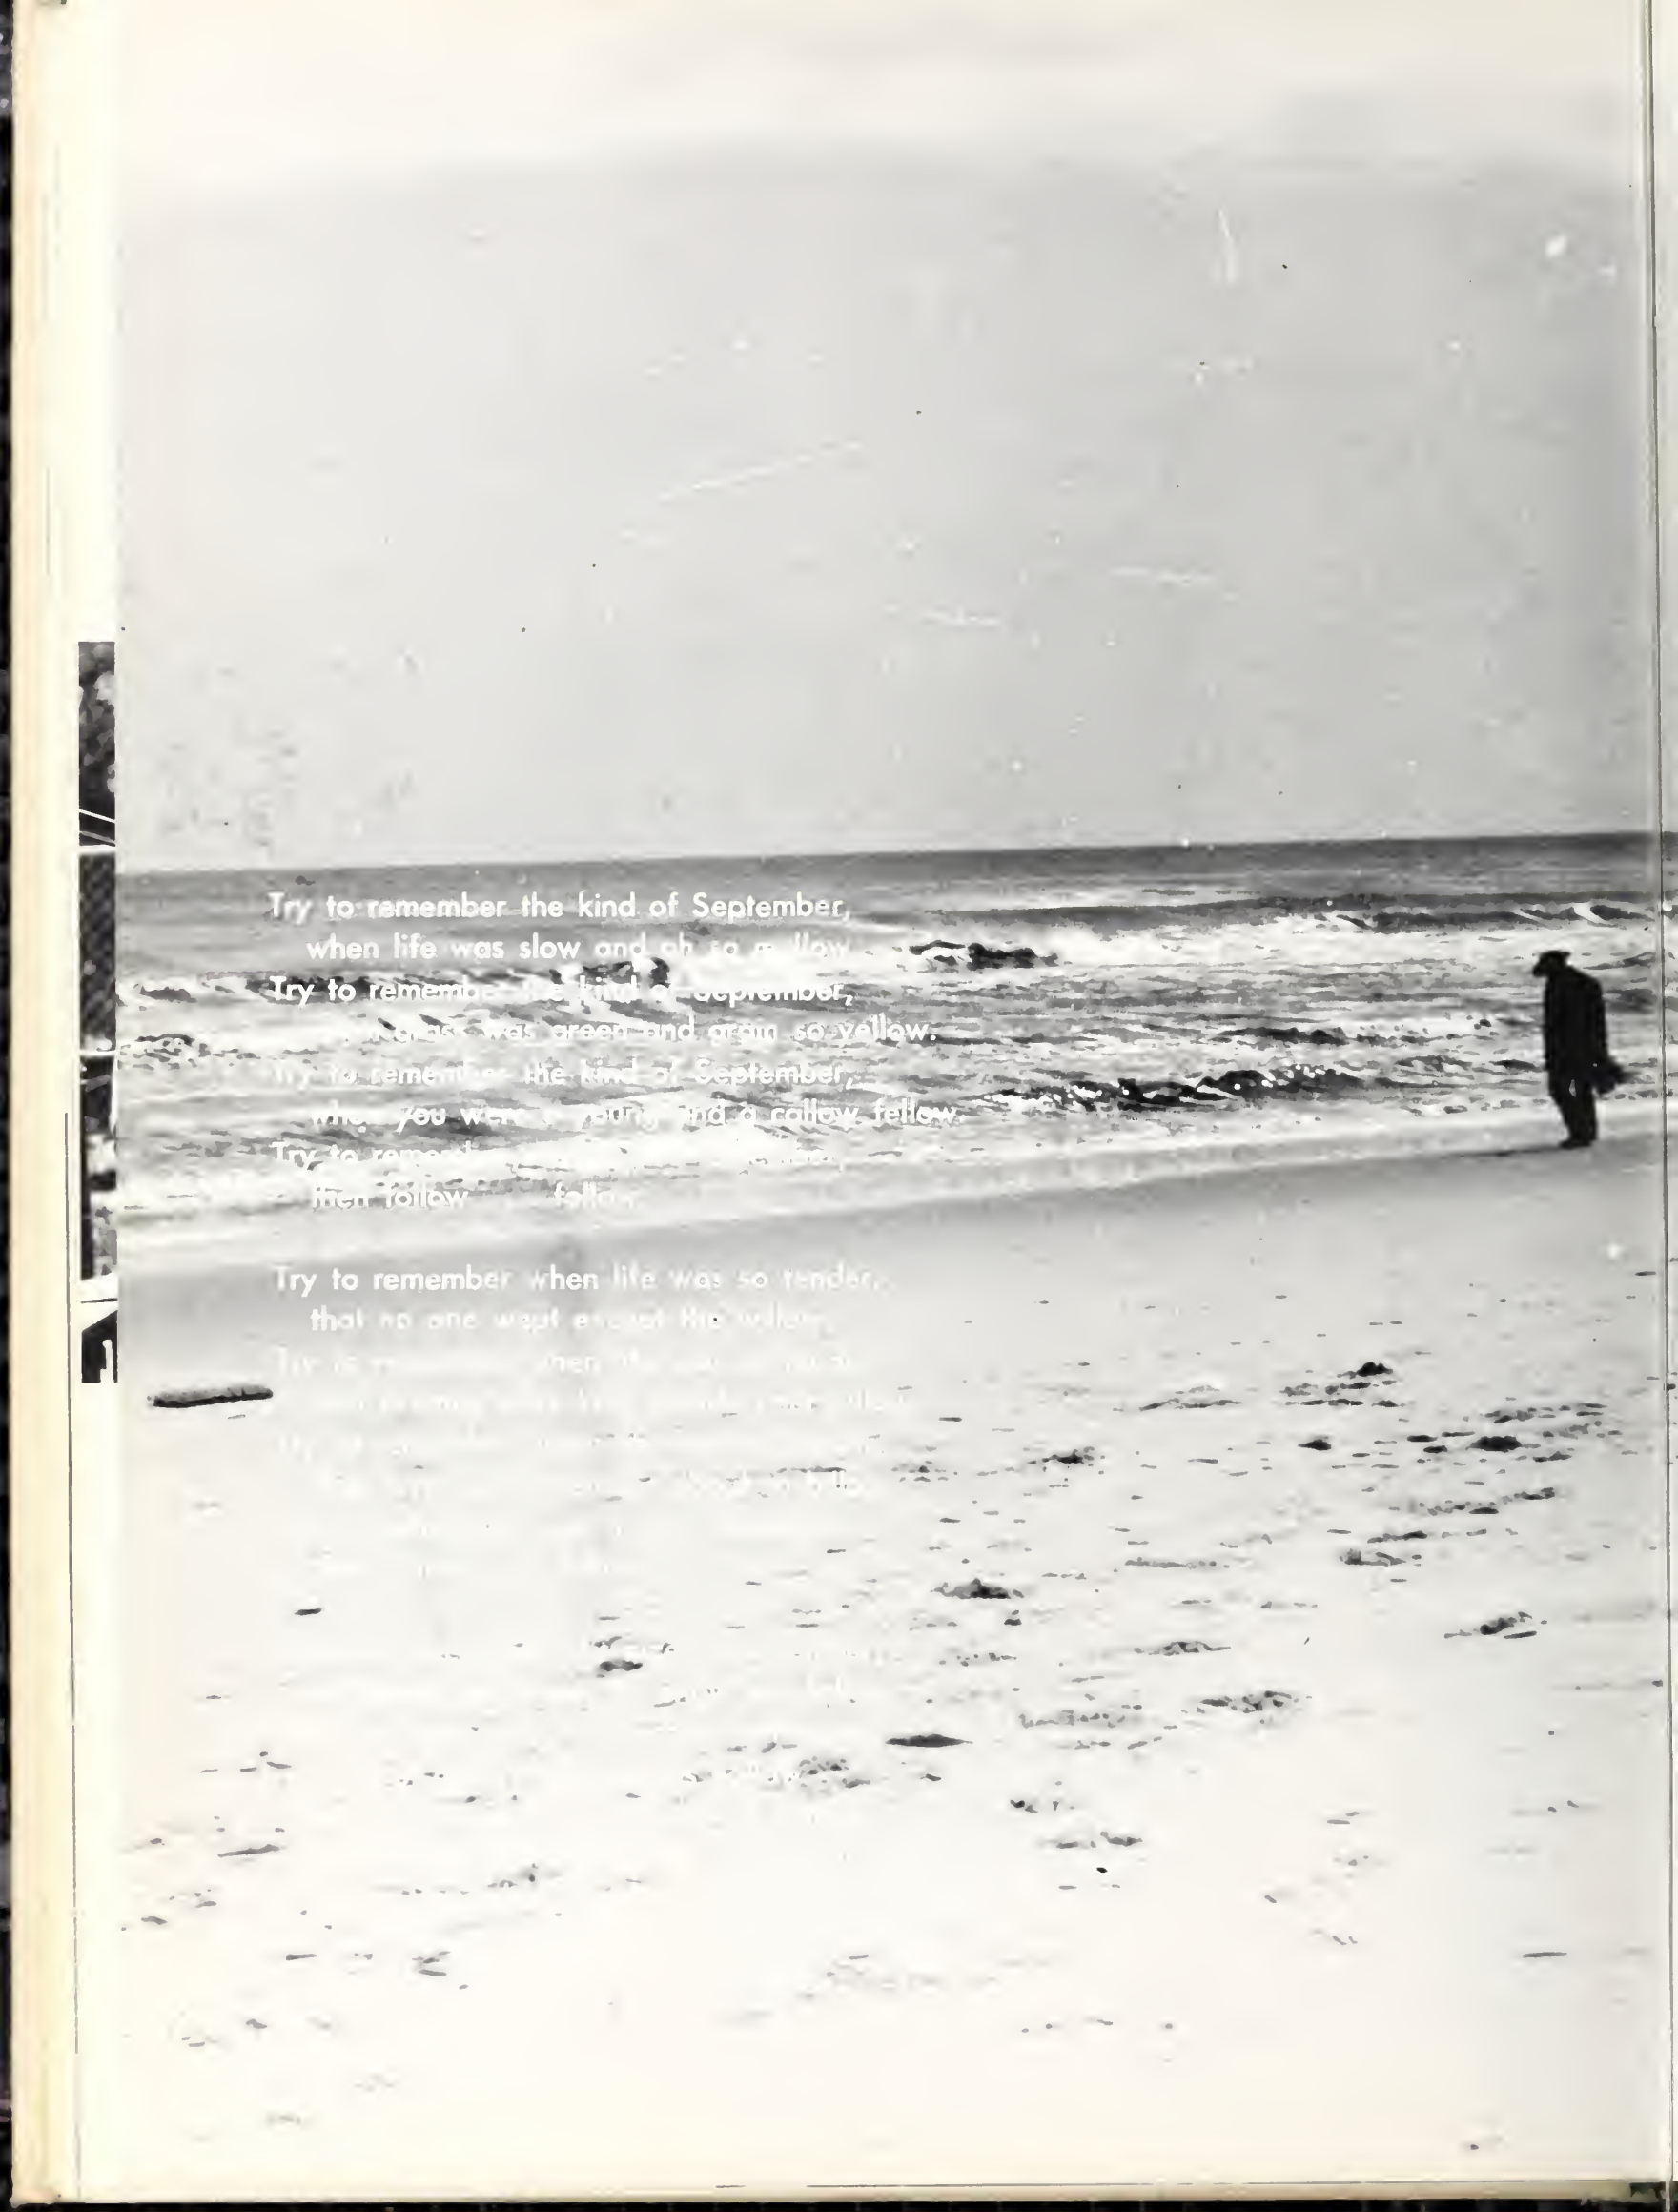

The 1970 EVERGREEN was published by Taylor Publishing Co. in Dallas, Texas: Mr. Patrick Mahoney, Sales Representative.

Paper stock for pp. 1-32 is Saxmark Embossed enamel; for pp. 33-192 is Sapphire Enamel 80 lb.

Typefaces for pp. 4-29 are 36 CLC Melior 14 pt.; for pp. 30-192 are Spartan 14 pt. All captions are Spartan Italic 10 pt. solid.

Portraits are by Merin Studios of Philadelphia; candid photography by Mike Byrnes (Merin), Paul Hoeckel, and Jeff Coleman.

Try to remember the kind of September, when life was slow and oh so mellow.

Try to remember the kind of September, when grass was green and grain so yellow.

Try to remember the kind of September,
when you were a young and a callow fellow.

Try to remember the kind of September,
when follow follow follow.

Try to remember when life was so tender, that no one wept except the willow.

Try to remember when the sun was so hot,
and the moon was like a candle in the night.

Try to remember when the wind was so soft,
and the rain was like a gentle kiss.

Try to remember when the world was so new,
and the future was like a blank page.

Try to remember when the heart was so true,
and the soul was like a bird in flight.

Try to remember when the love was so pure,
and the dream was like a star in the night.

Try to remember when the life was so sweet, and the death was like a gentle sleep.

Try to remember when the world was so kind,
and the future was like a bright light.

Try to remember when the heart was so true,
and the soul was like a bird in flight.

Try to remember when the love was so pure,
